Ever had something bottled up in your heart that you long to say but find it hard to convey? Message in a Bottle expresses ones feelings which are bottled up and often buried away like an unspoken message.

A word of compassion, gratitude and expressing of love to that someone is as simple as making a little time and saying those simple words. Often, we choose to bury our feelings away, procrastinate from taking action; thinking it can wait as we still have time or they will understand the unspoken message.
