The moon, one of the many wonders of the universe. A glimpse at the sky in search of the elusive full moon that only occurs once a month. Every chance upon a clear night reveals a different moon, a different surprise. Some days I am awestruck by the magnitude and vast diversity it presents itself.

This series of moon jars are hand-thrown, each with its own unique characteristics and in the aspects of 'wabi-sabi' (the beauty of imperfection) quality. Birthed through the use of distortion at various stages, choice of glazes and the way of firing.
