In this artwork, Ee Shaun pays tribute to the legendary '60s local comic duo 王沙野峰 (Wang Sha Ye Feng). The duo cracked dialect jokes on National TV, until dialects were banned when Singapore's 'Speak Mandarin' campaign was introduced in 1980s. First published in 2013 inside Kult magazine's 'Memory' issue #13 celebrating local heritage and forgotten memories, this artwork was later released as a limited edition Giclee print on canvas.
